Jeff Watson Homes is a design/build company in Georgetown, Texas, building custom homes throughout Travis and Williamson counties. Typically known for building 3,000 to 5,000 square-foot homes, Jeff Watson will design and build homes to meet their client's specifications. 3D imaging technology is used in the design process so that customers can see their plan in 2D or 3D views. Jeff Watson homes have been "Building on your lot" for over 25 years. Some of their customers have their own plans that they want to have priced to build. Floor plans are featured on the company's site, with information and photographs of residential communities and individual homes built or planned by Jeff Watson Homes. Current projects are highlighted, and client testimonials are presented.
