Churches by Daniels is a leading church construction company headquartered in Broken Arrow, OK, ready to help your church at any phase of the design & construction process. The traditional process of building can often leave you to make essential decisions on your own. Church Design-Build is different – in this system, the architect and contractor work together as a team, streamlining the decision-making process. From the inception of your church construction project, the company brings an outstanding group of professionals to work alongside your building team, to bring building projects to completion within budget and on time, and with a passionate commitment to quality, detail, and service.
