WCCTV is the USA's leading supplier of mobile surveillance cameras for construction job sites. Its market-leading security cameras with a managed service that includes equipment installation, alarm monitoring, maintenance, and ongoing technical support. WCCTV rapid-deployment cameras provide construction sites with all the multi-application benefits listed above, including security, time-lapse video filming, and remote project management. Its units can be deployed to any site, regardless of whether you have power or are dependent on solar energy. All of the WCCTV teams have built-in 4G LTE transmission technology so that their units can operate autonomously. The company has received several awards and commendations, including 3 ASIS Accolades (Security's Best) and an SIA New Product Showcase (Best New HD Camera) and in 2011 was the first company to have a video product certified by Verizon Wireless in the US for 4G LTE and 3G transmission. WCCTV maintains its market-leading status by continuing to develop innovative, customer-focused products and providing world-class customer support services.
